Discussion Questions:

1. This Psalm is filled with raw emotion. We often dismiss the role of emotions in the Christian life, but what might passages like this teach us about the positive benefits of expressing emotions to God?
2. What has your current season taught you about “thirsting for God” (v. 1-2)? How would you describe your own thirst for God?
3. Pastor Clay mentioned 3 reasons for drought. Which of the 3 has been particularly problematic for you over the years?
4. One of the ways to hope in God is to be open and honest before the Lord. Why do we often neglect being ruthlessly transparent before God?
5. What does it look like to “interrupt yourself” with the gospel on a regular basis?
6. As we wrap up this sermon series, what has been your biggest takeaway as it relates to your walk with Jesus?
7. Group/Family: Come up with a unique way to encourage one another this week (daily text messages, Bible reading goal, prayers, etc.)
